Re: Corruption

Sirs, Madams

As I say in the enclosed letter to the General Counsel of the National Enquirer and Attorney General Spitzer amongst others. I do believe in the freedom of the press. I can easily prove that I have made Fox News and many others well aware of many newsworthy events. It is also obvious to me why they have chosen not to report anything about my matters. It seems to me that Mr. Murdoch is just like any other dog of war. He would rather lick banker's boots and bark WTO propaganda while waiting for table scraps at Bush's dinner table. It reaps awards at AIFL dinners. I respect the right of the people that peddle the news to express their opinions good or bad or not at all for whatever reason but I also reserve my right to the freedom of speech and to embarrass them with the truth of their selected ignorance. I challenge anyone to debate the First Amendment over breakfast. Freedom of Religion is a big part of it. View attachment.

However as lawyers licensed to practice law for a fee you must uphold the law. You do not have the freedom that I do to take my Fifth Amendment Right any time I wish. You must speak up. You must conduct yourselves professionally and ethically as officers of the court. You cannot use ignorance of the law as an excuse. It does not matter whether or not you are in private practice or government service you must report crimes that you are aware of or stand guilty of assisting in them. I see no need to explain the enclosed documents etc. The lawyers that are employed in government service within the FCC should closely review the Code of Ethics hereto attached. If you disagree with me or ignore me prepare to argue with me in court. At the very least I have now made all of you witnesses to my pursuit of Justice. Check the Seventh Amendment violations.

Please find enclosed an exact copy of a letter with enclosures recently received by Congressman Max Sandlin Jr. of Marshall Texas. I make my intentions very clear. The copy of wiretap tape numbered 139 is served upon you in confidence as officers of the court in order that it may be properly investigated. Mr. Murdoch is a layman. He should not be allowed to listen to it or he will violate other people's Fourth Amendment Rights. If he disagrees, perhaps Michael Jackson's lawyer and the FBI can help him understand. They are very vocal about such things lately. A letter to Mr. Mueller is also enclosed.

Although Mr. K. Rupert Murdoch and I are both foreign born men of this country, he became a citizen of the U.S.A. in order to pursue the dollar. I, on the other hand, reside here by happy accident. I shall never deny from whence I came come hell or high water. I am a very proud Canadian who may indeed have to move his Yankee family home as political refugees. To hell with the dollar printed by Bean Counters that do not know productive work. Home is where the heart is and I suspect that Mr. Murdoch's was squirreled away in some bank vault long before he left Australia. I have read many things about Mr. Murdoch that cause me to hold him in much contempt. If he wishes to sue me, great. In fact I dog double dog dare him to do it Pro Se. If he does not have enough sand to stand and complain of me on his own two feet he can send me his best lawyers. Trust me, I am ready to argue. I look forward to meeting them.

Some of the things I have read about Mr. Murdoch are as follows: "In his Sydney Daily Telegraph earlier this year, he said he thought "Bush is acting very morally, very correctly, and I think he is going to go on with it".....Referring to the American people as "we" , Mr Murdoch said the public was far too worried about what the rest of the world thought of the US's declaration of war on Iraq. ....He said he believed Americans had an "inferiority complex" about world opinion and that Iraqis would eventually welcome US troops as liberators. ....Mr Murdoch told a conference in California it would be "better to get [the Iraq] war done now" rather than have a longer conflict that could prove more damaging to the world economy. "We worry about what people think about us too much in this country. We have an inferiority complex, it seems," he said at the Milken Institute Global Conference yesterday. "I think what's important is that the world respects us, much more important than they love us," added Mr Murdoch, who is Australian but took American citizenship in 1985 to get around ownership rules that barred foreigners from owning TV stations. He had just bought 20th Century Fox and a set of local American TV stations but battled to persuade the Reagan administration that the companies remained in American control. In the end he had to change nationalities in order to convince the federal communications commission. His company News Corporation's media interests in the US include the Fox broadcast network, Fox News Channel, the Fox film and TV production studio and the New York Post."

James Murdoch, who dropped out of Harvard, favourite place is New England, which he has described as: "God's country, it's so fabulous. I'd like to retire in New England or something. When I'm like 80 or something, live by the sea." (In my opinion he would fit in well the Kennedys and the Schwarzeneggers)

"Mr Murdoch is a serial sacker. He changes senior management the way other people change their wardrobe."....."Mr Siskind still obviously has his confidence. And while executives are dispensable, Mr Murdoch never fires his lawyers. Lawyers are the great keepers of secrets in the News Corp universe. They endure." "Mr Siskind is a lawyer with no reverse gear, a man with little sense of humour."

I have read that News Corp shareholders celebrated the media group's return to profitability in 2003 by paying its top 13 executives $126.4 million and that included legal counsel Arthur Siskind. It should be interesting to say the least when a wealthy lawyer and a poor layman collide head on and butt heads for awhile. This layman does possess a sense of humour, as a proper court jester. Lawyers never back him up. (pun)

I have also read that he and his legal team from Skadden Arps Slate Meagher & Flom are believed to be quite formidable. I also found the following stated about them.

Skadden Arps Slate Meagher & Flom Tops Legal Counsel Rankings By GSI
Global Securities Information, Inc. announces the following legal counsels finished the third-quarter of 2003 with the highest total transaction value of mergers and acquisitions. According to the rankings, Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom's 75 third-quarter deals totaled almost $112 billion, enough to top Sullivan & Cromwell, whose 12 deals totaled over $72 billion.

*Legal Counsel Rankings for Third-Quarter 2003
Ranked By Total Transactional Value*

Rank	Name of Legal Counsel	No. of Deals	Transactional Value
1	Skadden Arps Slate Meagher &amp; Flom	75	$111,862,752,543
2	Sullivan &amp; Cromwell	12	$72,151,649,619
3	Cadwalader, Wickersham &amp; Taft	5	$66,649,884,738

Although such legal counsel may strike fear in the heart of many a wealthy man, a poor layman need not fear them any more than a crowd of pickpockets. Although the long dead dramatist was wise, he forgot to mention how all lawyers fear an articulate and truthful court jester. Another fella by the name of Shakespeare put a better light on the role of the court jester. If I were able to put a bug in a Congressman's ear, I would suggest that he draft a bill to reinstate the position of Court Jester in all courts as a publicly elected position rather than political appointment. Then I suspect the people would take a far greater interest in the malicious actions of many lawyers. Lawyers have deliberately made the law too confusing and boring in order to have their way with our world. Even Shakespeare is confusing sometimes.

"JACK CADE. I thank you, good people:- there shall be no money; all shall eat and drink on my score; and I will apparel them all in one livery, that they may agree like brothers, and worship me their lord.

DICK. The first thing we do, let's kill all the lawyers.

JACK CADE. Nay, that I mean to do. Is not this a lamentable thing, that of the skin of an innocent lamb should be made parchment? that parchment, being scribbled o'er, should undo a man? Some say the bee stings; but I say, 'tis the bee's wax; for I did but seal once to a thing, and I was never mine own man since.- How now! who's there?"

William Shakespeare

The funny part is that he had villains tell us this. Who understands and employs crooks more than crooks? Some men rob you with a six-gun, and some with a fountain pen.

It is the crooks that wear a mask of virtue that I find the most offensive. I speak far more plainly than Shakespeare. I am not near as witty as neither he nor possibly even you but ordinary people will understand me. They are what make up the jury box and are also the ones that record their opinions in the ballot box.

After a couple of years of hard work and study, I am ready to pitch my tent and start a three-ring circus in a federal court after I play at politics a little bit. You are all invited to court to testify for me or argue with me. Please let me know soon with whom you wish to stand, George W. Bush or me.

I will leave you all to wonder as to whom and when I give the wiretap tapes to. The people that are recorded illegally upon them have their own rights to protect. As it stands right now I have signed documents by both state and federal authorities that claim that I have no such thing. We all know different don't we? What if the offended parties sue you before you speak up? It seems that you may have a legitimate fear of other lawyers in pursuit of lucre. Then again maybe I want to argue you first and will introduce the tapes into evidence to see if a federal court judge will allow them to be played into the public record. Won't that be an interesting dilemma for him? No one can say that I don't have a bunch of lawyers over a pickle/pork barrel. The comical part is that the solution to their problem is a no-brainer. The truth would free them from me.

On May 16, 2002, my wife and I met Fox News Executive producer, Ms. Fountain, at 25 Fox Drive in Dedham MA. After she took our evidence she sarcastically called me cocky. That was an understatement. When someone attacks my family I turn into a very big chubby prick. Ask the Treasury Agent Tim Croston who came to our home the month before with false allegations or the Secret Service Agents that came one year later if it is true. They witnessed my reaction. If anyone cared to notice, the harassment by the law enforcement community has caused me to leave my Clan and take up temporary residence in a State that abides by the Second Amendment. I cannot afford to trust the FEDS or anyone else. I demand that my family be left alone. I also wish to be left alone to write my book. I am of no physical threat to anyone. It is only the pocketbooks of wealthy crook's that are in jeopardy. I will live Free or Die. If I wish to speak to you, I will send a summons. Feel free to do the same. I promise that I won't file a Motion to Dismiss but I will demand a jury. I am heading south soon to file a complaint in South Carolina. J. Strom Thurmon Jr. is expecting me and I must remain true to my word. I bet he and Essie Mae wish they had a father like me rather than the prick they had.

By the looks of the phone numbers recorded on my telephone I think my little play at politicking is having an effect. Does anyone know whose phone number is (202) 100-3234? It seems they can call me but I can't call back. Now that's funny.

Cya'll in court 😊
